

Flexible Support for Business

Website: www.business-support-wales.gov.uk

The Welsh Assembly Government is reforming its business support services again, bringing all of its services under the banner of 'Flexible Support for Business'. The new approach is intended to help Welsh businesses start, grow and prosper. The service will be rolled out during 2008-09 with communications to businesses at all key stages.

From 15 April 2008, changes to the national customer entry point will go live with the introduction of a new number - 03000 6 03000 for existing companies and those people wishing to start up in business. The new website, www.business-support-wales.gov.uk, will become the main site for businesses in, or looking to invest in, Wales, and will begin to replace existing Welsh Assembly Government websites that currently provide information related to supporting business, including the Business Eye site.

Creative Business Wales will continue to be the main point of contact for businesses in the creative industries. CBW can be contacted on 029 20 436 110.